Senator Quotes Profits of Steel Corporations

Washington, Nov. 7 (P).—A demand for a tariff on manganese, a raw material used in the manufacture of steel, was made in the senate today by Senator Aschurst, Democrat, Arizona, who said statistics in tax returns of the big steel corporations showed they had made a net profit of $939,181,053 since enactment of the present tariff law.

Aschurst took the floor after Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, said he had been informed President Hoover favored the free listing of manganese and asked if this had prompted the senate finance committee to place the product on the free list after once deciding to put a duty upon it.

Chairman Smoot denied Mr. Hoover had influenced the committee in reversing its decision.

The Arizona senator said he cited the profits of the steel interests to show they could afford to pay a duty on manganese. He first sounded out senators on the propriety of using the statistics which were supplied by the treasury to the finance committee.

Aschurst referred to the profits of eight steel corporations.

Total profits were given as $931,684,318. After deducting losses, net profits were $939,181,053.

The Arizona senator then made public statistics which listed net profits of the United States Steel Corporation for the years 1922-28, inclusive, as $42,812,128. He gave the profits by years as follows:

For the year 1922, $39,562,455; 1923, $108,770,064; 1924, $85,110,940; 1925, $80,602,652; 1926, $116,567,404; 1927, $87,896,836; 1928, $117,774,744.

Net profits of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation were given as follows: 1922, $4,697,254; 1923, $12,710,712; 1924, $8,922,446; 1925, $13,567,753; 1926, $20,246,166; 1927, $15,529,917; 1928, $15,908,833.

Republic Iron and Steel Company, starting with 1923: $6,644,345; 1924, $2,068,297; 1925, $3,812,484; 1926, $3,623,774; 1927, $2,484,282; 1928, $4,642,450.

Wheeling Company: 1922, $1,725,260; 1923, $5,448,169; 1924, $8,651,110; 1925, $4,073,295; 1926, $5,566,184; 1927, $4,028,916; 1928, $6,443,795.

American Rolling Mills: 1922, $2,506,000; 1923, $2,518,200; 1924, $2,662,631; 1925, $2,758,093; 1926, $4,015,999; 1927, $3,452,549; 1928, $4,062,978.

Republicans Victorious in All County Offices

A complete tabulation of election figures in the city and county indicates that the trend of the vote was Republican and that in all county offices the Republican candidates were victorious although in the case of sheriff the vote was close.

The complete figures show that Wright J. Smith, Republican candidate for sheriff, won over Jacob V. Merrifield by the small margin of 850 votes. Returns from all districts including the city indicate that the vote was Smith 17,647 and Merrifield 16,797.

Other candidates received a larger plurality with the vote as follows for the county:

Justice of Supreme Court, Mr. James H. Tracy, 18,315, giving 2,433 in the county but Judge McNamee was elected by reason of a large majority in Albany county, 368; Davis, 19,350. Assemblyman William Davis of Kerhonkson was re-elected by a plurality of 4,981. County Superintendent of Poor, Schriber 9,066. McElhone 2,616. Plurality for William W. McElhone 3,616.

Coroner, Russell 12,682. Humiston 20,402. Plurality for Howard B. Humiston of Kerhonkson 7,720.

12th Anniversary Daughter of Of Bolshevism Colonel Gillespie Elopes With Cadet

West Newbury, Mass., Nov. 7 (P).—The ex-West Point cadet and the colonel's beautiful daughter are honeymooning here and with one newspaper job turned down, he's looking for another. He should have told his own story to any city editor.

Strict rules at the United States Military Academy at West Point say that cadets "shall not have a horse, dog, wife or mustache." Last year, however, while on a furlough, a first year man, Paul Capron, Jr., fell in love with Miss Margaret Gillespie, daughter of Colonel Alexander Gillespie, instructor in ordnance and gunnery. Capron's own father is an instructor at the Navy Academy at Annapolis, Md., with a summer home here.

Time for romantic aims is small at West Point but the romance continued and the 20-year-old lad, who had attended Harvard two years, planned a secret marriage. During the recent Yale-Army football game at New Haven, while his cadet mates saw Albie Booth upset the Army team, Capron met Miss Gillespie at a hotel there.

New Haven failed to yield a clergyman who would wed a couple so hastily, or one could not be found, but a speedy roadster took them 50 miles away to Brewster, N. Y., and a justice of the peace tied the nuptial knot. Returning to the Connecticut city, Capron rejoined his mates before the next formation. Mrs. Capron returned to the Gillespie family residence.

With the bride's confession to her father the elopement became known and Major General William R. Smith before a board. On being told he had made a "grave mistake," he resigned from the academy. The parental blessing, of course, was forthcoming.

They came here: Last night the ex-cadet said over the telephone, "Certainly I'm married. I wasn't lucky enough to land a job with the first newspaper I tried, but I'm looking for another."

Women Jurors Allege Coercion

Further Unusual Developments in Pantages Case—Women Feared Rigid Rehearsal.

Los Angeles, Nov. 7 (P).—Affidavits by three women jurors that fear of radio utterances by the Rev. R. P. Shuler and alleged coercion by a fellow juror had influenced them to return a verdict of guilty against Alexander Pantages were on file with District Attorney Burton Pitts today.

Mr. Shuler attacked over the radio a juror in the case of Pantages's wife, found guilty of the death of a man struck by her automobile when she was driving while drunk.

The affidavits were filed yesterday in connection with the vaudeville magnate's plea for a new trial, to be heard next Saturday.

Pantages was convicted of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17, a dancer, and is liable to sentence of from 1 to 50 years in San Quentin penitentiary.

The women jurors, whose statements were included among seven affidavits produced by counsel for Pantages, are Mrs. Christina D. Ulrich, Mrs. William Ingles and Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner. They said they were influenced also in switching their early votes for acquittal by the inclusion of the words "with clemency" in the verdict, under the impression that such a notation would make it mandatory that Superior Judge Charles Fricke pronounce a sentence of only one year in the Los Angeles county jail.

The women also stated they knew that Garland Biffe, a defense witness, had been arrested for alleged perjury before deliberation began, and that a discussion of the incident among members of the panel influenced their decisions.

Mrs. Ingles's affidavit said Juror William Vellage "threatened to tell Bob Shuler how this affair acted and voted unless she joined with him in a verdict of guilty, and further stated that he would see that Shuler made a statement over the radio in reference to it."

Mrs. Ulrich supported Mrs. Ingles in another affidavit, asserting that Vellage not only had threatened to tell Shuler but also to inform the grand jury and the board of supervisors.

Affidavits also were filed by Biffe and his wife, both of whom testified for Pantages, and by Attorney W. I. Gilbert and Joseph Ford of the defense counsel. Biffe said his arrest and perjury charges as he left the witness stand so unnerved him and Mrs. Biffe that they could not give further straightforward testimony.

"It seems rather strange to me," Fitts said, "that since the verdict was returned three jurors have had a sudden change of heart. The jury returned its verdict in open court, each member was polled, and all stated that this was their verdict. It is the law of California that a jury cannot impeach its verdict."

Another Sharp Break Follows Heavy Selling

New York, Nov. 7 (P).—A huge wave of selling, believed to represent the forced liquidation of weakened accounts, brought about another sharp break in prices at the opening of today's market. Initial declines in the leading issues ran from $1 to $15 a share, as blocks of 5,000 to 75,000 shares were thrown into the market.

Total sales in the first half hour were 2,400,560 shares, as contrasted with 1,157,400 shares in the same period yesterday, with the tape running 17 minutes behind the market.

Sharp recoveries developed in leading issues as the first wave of selling spent itself. U. S. Steel rallying from $161.50 to $173 a share before the end of the first hour.

Reports that the proposed merger of the National City Bank and the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Company, scheduled for stockholders' approval today, was likely to fail of ratification, brought fresh selling in the bank stocks which are traded in "over the counter." Declines of $5 to $50 a share showed in the securities of all the leading New York institutions. Guaranty Trust dropped $50 a share, National City $45 and Central Hanover Trust, Chase National and Corn Exchange $10 to $15 a share.

President Issues Armistice Day Proclamation

Washington, Nov. 7 (P).—In order that the people of the United States may recall "the high purposes for which this nation entered the World War," President Hoover issued a proclamation today morning Monday, November 11, as Armistice day.

The President also said that it was fitting that on this day the nation should recall its obligation to the dead to apply itself to the measures to "prevent repetition of such devastations of humanity" as in the World War.

The text of the Armistice proclamation follows:

By the President of the United States. A Proclamation.

Whereas, the eleventh of November, 1918, marks the cessation of the most destructive, sanguinary, and far-reaching war in human annals; and

Whereas, it is fitting that the recurring anniversary of this day should be commemorated by exercises which shall recall the high purposes for which the nation entered the World War, the devotion and sacrifices of those who gave service to our country in its peril, and the memory of those who died to bring peace, and which likewise shall recall the nation's obligation to those dead that we shall apply ourselves to measures which shall contribute to prevent repetition of such devastations of humanity; and

Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the Senate and the House of Representatives, in 1926, the President was requested to issue a proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day:

Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all government buildings on November 11, 1929, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, and other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude for peace and hope and desire that our friendly relations with other peoples may continue.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the United States.

Done at the city of Washington this seventh day of November, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-fourth.

HERBERT HOOVER.
By the President,
Henry L. Stimson,
Secretary of State.

Judge Freed on Murder Charge

Weatherford, Texas, Nov. 7 (P).—Judge R. H. Hamilton, former member of the state Supreme Court, commission of appeals, was free today, after having decided he acted in self defense when his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., bridegroom in a secret marriage, was shot and killed in Hamilton's Amarillo law office last May.

The jury took only one hour and 45 minutes to acquit. Four jurors voted for conviction on the first ballot and one on the second. The verdict came on the third poll.

The defendant was asleep in his hotel room when the verdict was read. He greeted quickly, however, when informed of his acquittal and came to the lobby to meet his friends.

Hamilton, his 19-year-old daughter, whose secret marriage to Walton was the two attendants the University of Texas, was indirectly responsible for the shooting, threw her arms around his neck.

"Oh, daddy," was all she could say, and she fell back to watch others congratulate him.

The state sought to show that Hamilton, knowing or suspecting his daughter had married Walton, whose home was in Amarillo, deliberately shot the young man when Walton came to his office to make a clean breast of the affair.

The defense pictured Hamilton as a kindly father, aware of Walton's intentions toward his daughter and willing to meet the couple, once he was satisfied of Walton's desirability.

Defense testimony painted the young bridegroom in a sinister light, however, several witnesses testifying that Walton had uttered threats against Hamilton, who, he felt, disapproved of him and hindered him in his efforts to see Theresa.

Hamilton himself, from the stand, testified these threats had come to him through others and that he had prepared to defend himself. The defendant did not admit shooting Walton, but said that they had engaged in a mortal combat for a gun Hamilton held.

Driverless Car Crashes Into Tree

Auto Owned by Dr. T. H. Jones, Runs Alone on Fair Street and Ends Driverless Ride by Crashing Into Tree Wednesday.

In some unknown manner the automobile of Dr. T. H. Jones of 261 Fair street, which was parked in front of that address Wednesday afternoon, started up and ran down Fair street in the center of the trolley tracks about 5:50 o'clock Wednesday evening, and finally brought its driverless ride to an end by crashing into a tree at Pearl and Fair streets.

The police department received a telephone call that a car had run into a tree at that street intersection and Policeman Peter Keresman was sent to the scene. He could find no one who owned the car and there was no one in the machine. The officer had the damaged car towed to Doc Smith's garage.

Later in the evening the police received word from Dr. Jones that the car was his and that it had been taken from in front of his place without his permission.

Investigation by Sergeant Phinney disclosed the fact that the car first noticed running down Fair street in the center of the trolley tracks by the driver of another car, who was forced over to one side. The driver of the car leaned out to address a few pertinent remarks to the astonished to find that there was no one visible in the driver's seat. A minute later the driverless auto ended its journey against the base of the tree.

What caused the car to start on its journey is not known, but it is thought that some one must have started the engine. The engine, however, was not running when the car was found against the tree.

Will Be World's Largest Dirigible

Akron, Ohio, Nov. 7 (P).—Elaborate ceremonies were arranged today to dedicate the master ring of the world's greatest fighting and largest dirigible, the ZRS-4 under construction here for the Navy.

A golden rivet, completing the ring, was to be driven home by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett while the dirigible Los Angeles, a meet of blimps and numerous airplanes circled overhead. The admiral, who as chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics is supervising the construction, other naval officers and officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, the builders, were scheduled to speak. A crowd of 50,000 was expected.

At a banquet, Commander Rosendahl of the Lakehurst naval air station is to be presented with the "medal of honor of the flight internationale des aviators" and Ward T. Van Orman, of Akron, will receive the James Gordon Bennett trophy as winner of the last international balloon race. Guests will include Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan, Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Janhoke.

The ZRS-4 will be 785 feet long, 146 feet high and will have a helium capacity of 6,500,000 cubic feet. The Los Angeles with its 2,500,000 cubic feet and the Graf Zeppelin with its 2,700,000, are small in comparison. Its vulnerability has been reduced as low as possible with the present knowledge of engineering. Among other features, it will be equipped to carry airplanes.

They were Paul Salerno, 25; Harold Sloat, 21, and Martin Siron, 18, all of Clyde. Their bodies were charred beyond recognition. All three were passengers in the sedan. ## Local Agents Destroy Brewery

At Spring Valley, Rockland County, Wednesday—Still Located on Route 2, Rhinebeck—John Blesing Arrested.

Officers from the Kingston prohibition enforcement office were called to Spring Valley, Rockland county, Wednesday, where it was stated a "wild-cat" brewery had been discovered. An official of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was called to the Underberger farm to investigate a dog case. The brewery was discovered and the prohibition officers were notified. At the time of the discovery of the plant there were two men in the place, but they disappeared when the plant was approached. When the federal men arrived they found four 500 gallon vats of mash, a cooker and cooler and other equipment for operating the plant. At the time there were indications that the plant was being operated.

The sheriff of Rockland county was notified and assisted the agents in destroying the plant.

A still was located a few days ago on Route 2, Rhinebeck, and John Blesing was arrested and held in $1,000 bond for appearing before U. S. Commissioner Flannery at Saugerties. There was one 45 gallon still in operation turning out applejack and a second still of 50 gallons capacity was being assembled. When the agents called it had not been erected as yet. Twenty gallons of alleged applejack were seized as well as 40 gallons of mash and about 50 gallons of cider. The plant was destroyed.

DEPUTY MARSHAL BADLY WOUNDED BY RUN RUNNERS

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 7 (P).—Ralph Zahne, 33, deputy marshal of Toledo, died in a hospital here early today of bullet wounds received when fired upon by a gang of rum runners.

Zahne and another deputy marshal, E. H. Gensler, were trailing a truck which they suspected of being loaded with liquor. The truck apparently was guarded by men following in an automobile. The guards seeing they were being followed suddenly turned their machine to block the road and the officers' car collided with it. Immediately four men in the car began shooting at the officers. The marshals did not have a chance to fire their guns.

Zahne was shot in the head and shoulders. Gensler was not hurt. He took the wounded officer to a hospital.

Police later found the car from which the shots had been fired. Two repeating rifles and ammunition were in it. The truck and the men had disappeared.

Senate Coalition Fights Steel Men

Washington, Nov. 7.—The Senate coalition of Democrats and Independent Republicans today stood squarely opposed to the wishes of the powerful American steel industry and threw itself determinedly into an effort to impose an import duty on manganese ore.

The steel men wanted manganese restored, after seven years, to the free list.

The manganese miners, on the other hand, were anxious for tariff protection and were given the backing of the coalition, which repeatedly has demonstrated its ability to override the tariff proposals of the administration camp.

The most recent exhibition of the coalition's strength came late yesterday in a vote on the first major industrial rate schedule to be reached that fixing the duty on pig iron. It was successful in fixing this rate at seventy-five cents a ton, a figure just half that proposed by the administration group and thirty-seven and one-half cents less than the present duty.

The manganese schedule has become controversial in the bill. At present the rate is one cent per pound, a duty approved for continuation by the House and at first by the Senate committee. The latter reconsidered, however, voted again on the schedule and recommended that manganese be restored to the free list.

The present law, and the House proposal affect ore with a manganese content of thirty per cent or more. There was talk that in addition to urging a continuation of the duty, the coalition proposed to reduce the underrate maximum from thirty to ten per cent.

The circumstances under which the committee reversed its stand on this item came under the fire of the coalition, too, and furnished one of the major controversy-producing points of the debate.

Action on the pig iron paragraphs yesterday provoked a sharp exchange between Reed of Pennsylvania, a leader of the administration group, and Norris of Nebraska, one of the spokesmen of the independents. The former said that the vote could only serve to uphold his contention that the tariff bill was dead and that the House could never agree to the wholesale changes which the coalition was making.

Norris replied that the Pennsylvania had come "seriously near to violating the rules of the Senate," and had gone beyond the bounds of "ordinary sportsmanship."

He asserted he was tired of Reed's "lectures," and that it was not becoming in the latter to question the intelligence of the Senate after it had spent several hours in debating an issue with a result not to the Pennsylvania's liking.

Youth Has Found The Way! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cultivated the fertile field of opportunity and invites everyone to roam in search of desired pursuits. Nothing remains of that ancient prejudice which bound the apprentice, without choice, to his career.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan. "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—If you missed your favorite musical program from the Russian Arts Cabaret early this morning, don't blame your radio—there wasn't any program.

The orchestra was all-tuned and the microphone had been connected for the broadcast when federal prohibition agents swooped down upon the establishment in Second avenue. The 200 patrons became panicky, and rushed out in their haste.

There was one thoughtful member in the raiding party. He pulled out the microphone plug and the radio public missed the broadcast of the raid. The cabaret manager and four waiters were arrested on charges of sale and possession of liquor.

CROOK MAKES PLEA FOR HIS SWEETIE

Effort Secures Light Sentence for Girl.

Boston, Mass.—A notorious crook, described by police as the killer type and a menace to the community, recently stepped out of his character long enough to thrill a crowded courtroom with a plea for his sweetheart, awaiting sentence with him.

He made his plea before Judge Frederick W. Fosdick, who asked him if he had anything to say before being sentenced, and asked nothing in his own behalf. Then he heard, without flinching, the court order him to state's prison for 18 to 30 years at hard labor, but smiled gratefully when the woman for whom he made the plea was let off with a light sentence.

Keeps Eyes on Judge.

The crook was George L. Brooks, alias Lefty Cook, of Bradley Beach, N. J., arrested last July after attempting to kill Patrolman Archie T. O'Connell of the Winchester police, who caught him robbing a house in Winchester. His sweetheart was Blanche A. Cole, thirty-five, of Worcester and Revere, who "pleaded up" with Brooks following a dance hall flirtation, and who, Brooks told the court in his plea, never knew that he was a crook or a gunman until the day he attempted to kill the Winchester policeman who caught him.

Brooks made his plea from the prisoner's cage in the courtroom. He stood up to deliver it, and throughout kept his eyes fixed on Judge Fosdick. Not once did he let his eyes wander to his right, where the girl, under guard, sat, pale faced and as though in a daze. Only after the court had pronounced sentence on both and had allowed the woman to get off with an indeterminate sentence at Sherborn equivalent to 15 months, did he turn his gaze upon her, and then only for a second, the grateful smile on his face conveying to her better than words how he felt toward her.

Nothing for Self.

"Have you anything to say to the court before sentence is passed?" Brooks was asked by the court, after the calling of his name and that of Blanche Cole brought a sudden silence in the courtroom.

The question brought Brooks to his feet at once. A good looking youth, tall and slim, he faced Judge Fosdick and without glancing to either side began his plea.

"Nothing about myself," he began and hesitated before going on. "But I feel I should say a little bit about her," he continued, moving his head slightly in the direction of where the girl sat.

"She never knew what I was involved in or that I was engaged in any crooked work whatsoever. I had considerable money when I met her and I told her I was in business in Miami and that the clothing that I brought home was my dead wife's clothing. I told her I had a truck of it and that she could use it any time. But I didn't tell her anything else and she didn't know anything else about me whatsoever. And that's the truth."

The pair were not permitted to talk to each other as they were being removed from the building, but sympathetic guards allowed Brooks to pass close enough to the girl, on the way out, to whisper to her that she could bear him, "Goodbye, Blanche." Both began their sentences at once.

If the woman behaves she will be eligible for a parole from Sherborn in a little over a year.

GIRL SCOUTS

ULSTER COUNTY COUNCIL

MISS MARION L. BOBBEN, Commissioner.
MISS KENNEDY A. HARPER, Director.

A training course for Girl Scout leaders is being given every Monday afternoon at 2:15 at the New Paltz Normal School. Miss E. A. Harper, the new county director, is leading the course.

Everyone interested in youth while work among the younger girls of the community or in Girl Scouting is welcome. Those who attend need not feel obligated to become associated with the work in any way, unless it is their desire.

The aim of the course is to explain the purpose of the Scout program, to give practical training in troop management and to furnish an opportunity for the discussion of Scouting in its various fields.

Girl Scouting helps to direct the career of the average girl of today into right and helpful channels. The person who puts this across must be trained in order to truly interpret the aim and ideals of the movement. As a result of this training course and others to come it is hoped that every girl in Ulster County may have an opportunity to become a Girl Scout. Inquiries may be made to Miss Margaret Fletcher at the Normal School or Miss Harper, 62 Maiden Lane, Kingston.

A most enjoyable salmagundi party was held last Saturday evening at the Jewish Community House on Broadway. It was given by Girl Scout Troop Two to raise money for carrying on their troop work. There were circle games for the little kiddies, table games, such as parchesi, crystal gazing, bean game contests for the next aged, group and cards for the older people.

During the evening two clever dance numbers were put on by Ruth Beigel and Lillian Wooner. Sally Rogers did splendidly in an acrobatic dance. Little Miss Lehr in her sweet and charming manner, sang some songs for everyone. Later cake and punch were served.

The girls and their leader, Miss Orloff, wish to thank everyone who helped make this venture of theirs a truly successful affair.

Troop 2, which meets at St. Mary's School, did not hold a meeting last Friday. This week they expect a big attendance, with all the old girls back and every candidate there to work on her Tenderfoot test. Second class girls are reminded not to forget to bring their four tree and shrub leaves with them for nature study.

Highland: It is reported that the Highland Troop had a jolly Halloween party.

New Paltz: The New Paltz Troop, being leaderless this week, helped Miss Harper in her training course at the Normal School. Their meeting was a practical demonstration for the class. One girl very creditably led the opening exercises. The group showed the spirit, team work and good fun to be had in playing Scout games. Everyone was pleased to have Miss Helen Hasbrouck, a council member, with them for the afternoon.

Saugerties: Troop 1, of which Miss Elizabeth Bender is the leader, is being reorganized. Twelve new members have joined and are busy learning the promise and laws and how to tie the five required knots. Some of the girls are working on the buglers' badge. So far this year most of the meetings have been out of doors. Visitors and new recruits are always welcome for it's the same in Scouting as in other things, "the more, the merrier."

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Pajamas and Petticoats Each Have Their Place.

New York—Those who have given the matter serious thought, come out definitely with the statement that pajamas are not only here to stay, but will be worn more than ever for sports, lounging purposes, and beach wear. One already hears of the "kitchenette pajama" as a substitute for the bungalow apron, and comes upon photographs of society and stage favorites driving their cars, propelling their speed boats and jolting about in rather spectacular pajamas. It seems the frothy of fashion that just at this moment long skirts and petticoats throw their shadow across our path. Lingerie experts are convinced that the vogue for long evening dress is surely to revive the rustling silk petticoat, and who is there to say nay? Women having reverted to type and gone feminine will just naturally hide behind their own petticoats. So long as they may also wear pajamas abroad as well as at home there is little cause for them to quarrel with their lot.

Cure Worse Than the Bite

Crossing the English channel was a worse business in early days than now. This is how our ancestors sought to evade unpleasant effects: Take one ounce of sirup of clove gilliflowers, one drachm of confectio alchermes, one ounce and a half of horseradish water and the like of mint-water, one ounce of mountain water and as much cinnamon water, temper all these together in a cordial and take a spoonful at a time when at sea.

Indians' Basket Granary

A large basket granary, used by Pacific coast Indians to store acorns, one of their chief foods, on exhibition at the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, is shaped like a beehive. It is made by twisting willow withes with the leaves left on into a rope-like form, which is then coiled to make the receptacle. There is a mouth in the top with a cover. The granary rests on a platform of poles devised to keep it out of reach of rodents.

Swiss Superstition

Rigi, one of the most famous mountains of the Swiss Alps, has staged many landslides in its time. Some of them have cost many lives, and buried whole villages at its foot. An age-old legend ascribes these slides to the hard-heartedness of the people, who are supposed to have incurred the anger of the dwarfs by refusing them hospitality.—Gas Logic.

Aluminum Alloys Formed

Aluminum is combined with other metals, according to reports of processes developed by a San Francisco inventor, to form valuable alloys. With gold, a hard, light alloy is prepared; a silver mixture so hard that it can be sharpened to a razorlike edge is also made, and copper is made suitable for use in tools.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

At the mid-season openings, held the latter part of October in Paris, pajama modes were naturally streamlined since these collections were largely concerned with Palm Beach and other resort fashions. A Palm Beach wardrobe barren of pajamas is unthinkable. They are gay and they are better anything related to the beach. Pajamas for indoor wear have taken on a greater elegance and are fashioned of velvets and laces worthy of a more formal fate. Most really chic women have

HI-Y CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The Hi-Y Club held a very interesting meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. The members were very efficiently served by Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Satterlee, Mrs. Longyear and Mrs. Van Deusen, assisted by the Hi-Y Auxiliary with Miss Brigham as president. Stuart Parks led singing in his usual jolly manner with music furnished by Miss Haas and Bart Dutto.

President Watts called the meeting to order and after some business turned the meeting over to Coach Kias, the speaker of the evening. Mr. Kias spoke on "A Good Finish" and stressed the importance of finishing the athletic game, showing how a poor start may be turned into a fine finish. Mr. Kias then told the boys of the fine start they had in Hi-Y life and suggested that they continue and end up with a fine life. Mr. Kias is with the boys six days a week and is pretty well versed on what they are doing.

The Kingston Hi-Y Club is planning to send a fine group to Rochester for the New York state older boys' conference. Mr. Robbins of Newburgh has arranged with N. H. Fuller to send his delegates with those from Kingston, in one of the Rip Van Winkle busses. The Newburgh crowd will come up to Kingston and stay with the boys here on Thanksgiving night. Several Hi-Y Clubs in the county are planning to follow Newburgh's example. The entire delegation will leave early Friday morning and arrive back in Kingston some time Sunday.

The conference will be under the direction of Erd Harris and Bruce Curry, who will take as their topic, "What Is Christian in Everyday Life?"
The Hi-Y annual faculty banquet will be held Wednesday evening, November 13 at the "Y". The speaker will be Prof. Ivel Davidson, head of the Latin Department of St. Stephen's College at Annandale. The speakers' committee has gone to some trouble to get this man and it is expected that every Hi-Y member will be present. This is an annual affair with the Hi-Y boys and a time when the faculty become the guests of the club in an evening of fun, merriment and jollity. School and city topics suggested by the school is strictly banned for the evening.
A splendid program will be arranged which will be announced later.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press)

Albany—Establishment of an annual "Health Day" for New York state is being urged by the hospital association of the state of New York, according to the State Health Department, which stated that the association planned to ask cooperation of the various medical societies in the state and to request the legislature to establish such a legal holiday at the next session.

Rome—Mrs. Anna Cvek, a widow with six children, the eldest 13 years old, has been awarded compensation totaling approximately $11,000 for the death of her husband from injuries suffered in an accident in a local factory. Mr. Cvek was injured in 1926 but his death recently was held to be a result of the accident nine years ago. His widow will receive the compensation in installments over a period of nine years, but if she should remarry she would be allowed only two years' compensation in a lump sum.

Saratoga Lake—Frank Kawatch of this city is known throughout the Adirondacks as the "double" of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Albany—The National Dairy Council has offered a scholarship of $500 to 4-H clubs for the best report of health activities conducted during the next six to eight months, ending May 1930, according to an announcement by the New York State Health Department.

Rome—Cunningham Hall of Rochester, a test pilot, now known as it feels to fly an airplane without a propeller. While flying near this city recently he discovered that his plane was without a propeller. Although within gliding distance of the Utica airport, he landed in a nearby field without injury. Hall searched for several hours for the propeller but was unable to find it.

Watertown—Frank E. Martell, city sealer of weights and measures, has been waging a campaign to insure the housewife against "buying" the ice man's tons every time she purchases ice. Mr. Martell has found that many count in the weight of the tons, about five pounds.

Brownville—The general Jacob Brown mansion here, a historic landmark of Jefferson county, is to be remodeled into an apartment house, efforts to have the state appropriate funds to maintain it as a memorial to the general having failed. General Brown was an outstanding figure in the War of 1812.

Geneva—Increasing consumption of water by power companies has been blamed for a three-foot drop in the level of Seneca Lake.

The Electrolux Refrigerator

HERE are the facts about Electrolux, the newest and finest development in automatic refrigeration.

How Much Does it Cost? There are models at $210, $225, $345, $430 and $510 f. o. b. factory.

What is the Operating Expense? In most places the cost is from 25 to 55 cents a week. About half what you probably pay for ice.

What About Noise? Electrolux is the only automatic refrigerator that will be absolutely silent its entire life. It can never make any noise, for it has no moving parts to wear.

What About Mechanical Troubles? Electrolux hasn't a single moving part to wear. There is no machinery to cause trouble.

Is It Safe? Absolutely so. The refrigerant used in Electrolux never needs replacement. It is hermetically sealed forever inside a rigid immovable one-piece welded steel unit that has no openings of any kind.

Is It Dependable? The N. Y. Herald Tribune Institute, one of the nationally known laboratories that tested Electrolux, reports that "the refrigerator will probably be one of the most dependable appliances in the household."

Will it Freeze Ice Cubes? Yes, and quickly, too. The Delineator Home Institute tested Electrolux and reports that "in an 80-degree room with standard load, water at 70 degrees F. in all the trays froze in approximately 4 hours."

How Long Will it Last? Indefinitely. With no friction, no vibration, no wear, science can find no good reasons why this refrigerator should ever wear out.

At Fred M. Dressel's show room the Electrolux dealer, you'll find many models and sizes in white and beautiful colors, offered on extremely liberal terms. Or he will send complete illustrated information if you address his office, 73 Albany Avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

How To Get That Youthful Feeling

Over in Great Britain when a man is feeling "as fit as a fiddle" and looking the "picture of health" they say:

"HE'S GOT THAT KRUSCHEN FEELING."

That means he has the Kruschen habit—that he takes his little dose of Kruschen Salts every morning.

It's the same in Germany—in Holland—in Australia and in Canada for Kruschen Salts are now sold the world over.

Kruschen Salts are now being sold in the United States and that "Kruschen feeling" of glorious vitality—of radiant health—of internal cleanliness—is already known to hundreds of thousands of wise men and women.

Kruschen Salts is not one salt only—it is the combination of six vitalizing salts necessary to healthy life—without these salts you could not live.

Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning. As a cathartic or for speedy, blissful bowel action take one level teaspoonful.

But don't miss a morning for Kruschen not only purges and keeps the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in a splendid healthy condition, but it drives harmful acids and poisons from the system and sends pure blood coursing thru your veins.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts at McBride Drug Stores or any drug store in America today and start tomorrow morning to lose unwanted and unwanted fat and to get that feeling of youth—an 83 cent bottle last 4 weeks. If you aren't gloriously satisfied get your money back.

WHAT IS A DAY?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

"WHAT is a day?" the whippersnays say.
"A day, with all one has to do!" And yet one day, the present day. Was all that genius ever knew. No man has had more days than one. To do the things the great have done.

What is a stone, one brick alone.
One granite block in yonder wall? Yet stone by stone men laid the stone. In no one moment laid them all. Each stone, each day, had equal grace.
Each in its time and in its place.

"What is a day?" the fool may say.
And yet today is all life is. Each yesterday may pass away. But his today is always his. For greatness does not live by years. But days, each new day appears.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

ROOSTERS AND COMPANY

WHEN a rooster crows in the front yard, or on the front steps, it is a sign that "company is coming." This is a superstition common in most sections of the United States, with slight variations in some localities. In some places it is a "stranger" who is coming.

The rooster was quite an important bird in the ancient mythological systems. Not only was he a "solar animal," sacred to the sun-gods Osiris, Apollo, etc., but he was, also, the symbol of Mercury, and Mercury among other things, was the patron of travelers. As the symbol of Mercury the cock especially signified vigilance. It was believed by the ancients that even the fiercest beasts were afraid of the cock and even the lion fed at the sound of his crow or the sight of his crest. In short he was a valiant and efficient watchman and a patron of those who traveled.

Therefore when he crows in front of the house he announces, like the good sentinel he is, that "a traveler is approaching," "company is coming," "a stranger is coming." He makes the same announcement today before the New England farmhouse that he made when Macbeth came to visit Horace at his Sabine farm, nearly two thousand years ago, and is believed in just as implicitly with this difference: Horace could give an explanation—the explanation given above—of why he considered that the cock was announcing company coming; whereas the modern farmer has lost the explanation and retained merely the superstition.

Dear Editor:

THIS business of seeing America first is more of a job than you think. To get from Ohio to Memphis you cross Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

Sights and signs today: "Farina 16 miles." Too far to go for the food. "Gas 19.4 cents a gallon. Why the compound interest? "Souvenir spoons given away at the 'movie' tonight." Did anybody ever find a use for a souvenir spoon?

There's the state fair grounds of this region, with horses getting their morning trot around the track. I'd like to see a good horse race. But we've got to keep going.—Fred Barton.

Home Making Found To Be Popular With Girl Scouts

The delight the modern girl takes in planning and building her own little house or club-house where they learn how to cook, wash and iron and sew. The potential fascination home holds for every girl is fostered by the Girl Scouts organization which emphasizes homemaking in the five-year development program just initiated.

Many Girl Scout troops have their own little houses or club-houses where they learn how to cook, wash and iron and sew. These houses contain a large living room for troop meetings, a complete kitchen and a small room for officers. Girl Scouts themselves paint the woodwork, upholster the furniture and even venture to make bookcases. The girls are encouraged by Girl Scout directors to take the lessons learned home where mothers will be glad to have their Girl Scout daughters relieve them of the burden of preparing dinner one day each week.

Often a local organization such as the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary, the Elks or the Kiwanis Club buys a house for the Girl Scout clubhouse or finances the erection of a new building. In other instances the girls have raised the money themselves through entertainments, paid service in their spare time and subscriptions. The Girl Scouts five-year development program will enable the organization to increase its membership to 500,000 and to become practically self-supporting. The great need of the organization is for trained leaders to take charge of such features on its program as the Girl Scout groups. Membership in the organization has increased at the rate of 20 per cent annually for the past nine years and would have grown faster had there been more leaders.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, honorary president of the Girl Scouts, who has long been actively identified with its work, has been succeeded as chairman of the board of directors by Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady. Mrs. William H. Hoffman, in president of the Girl Scouts, Mrs. Edgar Rickard, treasurer, Mrs. Julius H. Barnes, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Jane Deeter Ripplin, director. Headquarters are at 670 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

New Device Keeps Plane on Course

Washington, Nov. 7.—Army aviators were enthusiastic today over the demonstrated efficiency of a newly developed robot pilot which keeps a plane flying straight and true to its course with no attention from the pilot at the controls.

It consists of two gyroscopes, one vertical and one horizontal, which maintain a constant position and by electrical contacts bring the ship back to level flight and point it again on its course when disturbed by the wind, passing gusts, or downward air currents.

The whole device fits into a box, small enough to be placed under the pilot's seat, and weighs about fifty pounds. The electrical power necessary for its operation is derived from a wind-driven generator.

The new robot was given an exhaustive test yesterday in a trimotored plane flying from Cleveland to this city. Once in the air the gyroscopes were put into operation and the manipulation of the plane was given no more attention until, within thirty miles of Bolling Field here, the propeller operating the generator failed, and Lieutenant Albert F. Hagenberger, remembered as the partner of Lieutenant Lester J. Matland in their flight from California to the Hawaiian Islands, took the controls for the remainder of the flight.

It was pointed out that the device is meant to control a plane only in level straight flight, and that when turns or landings must be made the human pilot must replace the mechanical one.

The robot is the invention of Elmer S. Sperry, an experimenter in gyroscopic devices. Lieutenant Hagenberger is in charge of the present army experiments.

BUSINESS GIRLS OF Y. W. C. A. ESSAY ONE-ACT PLAY

There was an unusually large attendance at the supper of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday night. Several guests were among the number. The supper was good and everybody was happy. The announcements included one from Miss Stille telling of the successful Halloween dance which to date would net the club $15. A number of the girls had not settled and all those who had not done so were asked to settle up at once so that the committee might make its final accounting.

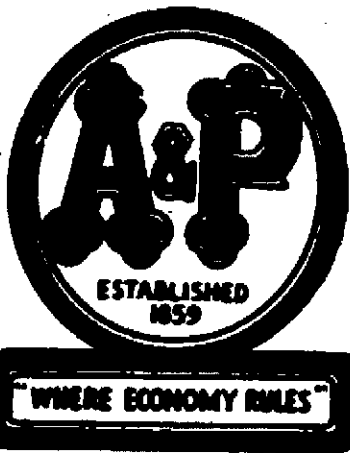

Miss Hall, chairman of the program committee stated that there would be an important meeting of the committee held in Miss Van Eiten's office on Friday evening at 7 o'clock, sharp, and lasting only until 7:45 o'clock. All members of the committee were urged to be present. Miss Rand, chairman of the membership committee, announced 36 paid-up members of the club. As there were twice that number at the supper the hope was expressed that many more girls would become Business Girls' Club members.

The program for the evening was given by three members of the Young Married Women's Club, who presented the exceedingly clever and very well acted one-act play, "Moth Balls." The cast consisted of Miss Craig, a playwright and blue-stock, too engaged in her career to put moth balls into her husband's fur overcoat, etc., well presented by Mrs. Arnold; Betty Hughes, Miss Craig's secretary, a very good typist and cousin of the playwright, played naturally by Mrs. Gagnon; Gladys Dean, actress, also interested in saving Miss Craig's romance, charmingly taken by Mrs. Nelson. The play was fully enjoyed and appreciated and was followed by one of Mrs. Teller's popular talks on "Personality," largely attended and intensely listened to.

HIGH WOODS. Nov. 7.—Carle Shader is spending a few days in Albany. Master Leroy Snyder spent the week-end with his grandmother. Nelson W. Snyder of Kingston called on his brother, Lewis E. Snyder, the past week. The Ladies' Aid social on Halloween was well attended. $100 were taken in for which the members feel very grateful. The post office and the prize apples kept things lively for a while and all seemed to enjoy the fun as well as trying to catch the swinging apples. Church services in the High Woods Church Sunday evening. Congregational meeting after church service in the afternoon.

MOUNTED POLICE GET THEIR MAN

But Times Have Changed and They Hunt New Type of Criminal.

Winnipeg.—The Royal Northwest Mounted Police of Canada have had to change their methods as the times have changed. They are not so much called upon to cope with cattle rustling and horse stealing as when the ranges were broad and the ranchers few.

The night riding rangers now are forgers. They doctor documents instead of smearing brands. Their improved penmanship lets them make a high priced pure-bred beast out of a graded animal picked up from some hard-up homesteader. There do not appear to be many of these gifted breeders, but one, who lives near Calgary, Alberta, was fined $1,000 when the mounted police proved that he had faked a registration certificate to make pure-bred Percherons out of scrubby draft horses, says the New York Herald Tribune.

Another cattle dealer might still be pawing off pure-bred cattle on American buyers if it had not been shown that the bull he recorded as the sire of stock he sold at fancy figures had been butchered many years before. The price of silver fox puppies is increased by tampered registrations.

Drug trafficking seems to have the place in police records once taken by whisky trading. The war on narcotics was a prominent part of the year's mounted police activities, and the fight is still on. Some headway is being made. Superintendent Allard of Winnipeg, Manitoba, thinks "the situation has somewhat improved."

To Deport Convicts. The policy of the mounted police is the apprehension of the principals rather than of the addicts. The superintendent of the British Columbia district reports that "a number of important members of the drug ring have been found guilty and are at present serving long sentences, which, in the majority of cases, will be followed by deportation."

When Lord Lip, described "as the third most important dealer in narcotics in Vancouver," last year was beginning his imprisonment for three years, Lee Go, "who is a very astute man," was blandly engaged in handling cabbages and lettuce to customers in his vegetable store. But Lee Go had other interests. He is shrewd, and he is rich. He had dealings with Gahan Hahamand, a Hindu, who is less astute, and is very poor. Lee showed Gahan how the desire for a little more money might be fulfilled by performing a very little service for Lee. Lee is now serving five years in jail, and Gahan too.

Three Months on One Case. Before they could be convicted Sergeant Fripps took months to unravel

Stomach Troubles Headache and Dizziness

If your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength, get nervous and feel as though you get up as when you went to bed.

For 10 years Tanlac has restored to health and activity many thousands who suffered just as you do. Here is a letter from Mrs. Louise Dykstra of 35 John St., Natick, N. J.: "I suffered from acute attacks of indigestion. My nerves were affected so I couldn't sleep. Now I can enjoy hearty meals and don't dread my housework."

Let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer. It corrects the most obstinate digestive troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels. It restores appetite, vigor and sound sleep.

Tanlac is made of roots, herbs and barks. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

the trade cunningly devised by the us 10's Lee Go. When Lee Go received an order, perhaps with a purchase of parsley in his vegetable store, he would instruct the buyer to meet the vendor of the drugs at a certain place. There he would meet Gulan, in whose cabin Lee Go's drugs were stored. But when the buyer met Gulan, the Hindu would not have the drugs. He had hid them and would tell the buyer where they were to be found. The place of the hiding was changed with each purchase.

The mounted police do not do all the detective work in these drug cases. The drug principals employ detectives to shadow the police informants. In a group of such cases in Winnipeg last spring, "the suspected persons employed a private detective agency to follow and expose a valuable informant" of the police.

Catch Suspect for Germany. The mounted police still "get their man." Traditionally, the mounted police always got their man. Old-timers used to amend the tradition by agreeing that the police always got a man. It is not hard to imagine why it must be harder than ever for any police to "get their man" in these days of rapid transport and easy concealment. And if it is harder to get their man, it is even harder to prove they have "the man." Yet the mounted police still get their man often enough to prove they ask only a chance in a hundred to make good.

Johann Kilmek, a laborer of foreign birth, entered Canada in March, 1927. The German government last May charged him with having committed a murder, and whether he had gone none seemed to know. The police got on his trail. He lived for awhile in a foreign settlement in and near Fort William, Ont. He came to Winnipeg. He went west on a barometer's train. He had been searched for in many lumber camps and in many quarters. The hunt was kept up. He was pursued till he was arrested in Alberta last September, when he was returned to Germany.

It was last year that Henry Vengrasky, alias Henry Vico, "perhaps," in the opinion of the mounted police, "the most important personage in the illicit drug business of Winnipeg," received a sentence of six months in jail and a fine of $200.

Appeals Court Increases Sentence. Against the lightness of that sentence the crown appealed, and it was then increased to three years. Superintendent Allard observes, "This is the first time in the history of the courts of Manitoba that the Appeals court has seen fit to increase a trial judge's sentence, and the decision can, therefore, be considered as important and far-reaching one."

It was a narcotics case here which led, too, to the disclosure of the notorious system of "straw bonds," which is not so much in evidence now as it was. Of course the mounted police pass information from detachment to detachment.

From information received from Montreal came about the Seigel seizure, which further resulted in three informations being laid against "one Louis Rando, probably the most important offender against the act in this district. Rando is now being sought and it is thought that he is in the United States.

Last of First Chiefs of Old South Dakota

Elk Point, S. D.—A. O. Ringrud says he is the only person now living who held a state office when South Dakota became a state in 1889.

When men were chosen to fill governing offices of the new state Ringrud was elected secretary of state and served two terms. He had held county offices for ten years before that time. He was elected registrar of deeds and county clerk for Union county in 1878. After holding that office six years, he was elected county treasurer. This office he held four years.

He was Republican nominee for governor in 1896, but was defeated by Andrew E. Lee, populist candidate, with a majority of only 519 votes.

In March, 1917, he was appointed a member of the South Dakota state board of charities and correction, and served as president of that board two years.

and member of the city council; president of the Union County Old Settlers' association; and for twelve years was a member of the Elk Point school board.

Since 1893 he has been engaged in the mercantile business here. Ringrud arrived with his parents in Union county, on July 4, 1867, having come direct from Norway. At that time the railroad extended only as far west as Denison, Iowa, so the Ringrud family waited there for friends from the Brule settlement, north of Elk Point, who escorted them to their new home.

Need Cheerful Mind to Cure Blood Pressure

Washington.—The United States public health service warned persons afflicted with high blood pressure not to become "high blood pressure fiends," constantly thinking, talking and living the disease.

High blood pressure can be relieved and effectively cured, the public health service said, "only if a cheerful frame of mind is adopted and frequent estimations of pressure are shunned." Treatment, consisting principally of proper regimen, should be undertaken under the advice of a competent physician.

"The amount of exercise should be decided upon by the family doctor," it was advised. "Food is a factor in the treatment; but it is now believed that a consideration of the quantity of the food—a restriction in amount—rather than quality is of greater importance. The giving of drugs is usually disappointing, but in emergencies they may be life saving."

Now We Know About Plumber and His Tools

Boston.—The mystery as to why a plumber always has to go back for his tools was solved at the Massachusetts plumbers' convention. Vice President William E. Moore explained: "Yes, we're a big laugh to the man in the street. But I'd like to see the same man stagger to a job with 800 tools, which make up a complete plumbing kit. That's the only way we could be prepared for all emergencies—bring the whole lot."

Former Slave Is 110

Marysville, Ohio.—William Peppers, a negro, inmate of the county home here, claims to be one hundred and ten years old. After being sold three times as a slave, Peppers related, he escaped bondage when a body of Union soldiers marched past a field in which he was plowing for his master. He said he joined the soldiers and came to Gallipoli, where he found employment on a farm. The aged negro attributes his advanced years to good, regular habits, hard work and the use of tobacco.

Low Child Death Rate

London.—Great Britain in 1928 had the lowest infant death rate ever recorded. Out of every 1,000 children who lived five to be one year old only 65 died.

Gregorian Calendar

The term "calendar month" is applied either to the months as divided in the Gregorian calendar—such as January, February and March—or to the period between the date of one month and the corresponding date in the succeeding month; as, from March 15 to April 15. When the succeeding month does not have a corresponding date the last date of that month is taken; as, from January 30 to February 28.—Pamphlet Magazine.

Indiana Are Born Artists

Art is racial to the Indian, not local. When the American works in materials that afford him scope for self-expression, such as blanket weaving or basket making or pottery, his product equals any folk product in the world, and excels much that we import at great expense from Russia and the Balkans.—Mary Austin in the Forum.

Recognition Gained by Peace as English Artist

A number of years ago a young American artist sought a position on a certain eastern newspaper. His work was admirable, but there was no vacancy. Undeterred, he applied at other newspaper offices, but with out success. Starvation and a hall room overlooking a back yard stared him in the face.

At that time, foreign artists were in demand. The young fellow changed his name and inserted a hyphen to give it a ritzy atmosphere, and bled himself to the first editor who had turned him down. He had had cards printed bearing a London address.

The busy editor, having forgotten his face, listened to his story. He was an English artist, just arrived. His work, according to the artist, would take the country by storm. The editor believed it, for the drawings were excellent.

The artist was set to work and his name emblazoned on billboards and trucks. It wasn't long, however, before the editor discovered the hoax. Instead of firing the man, he kept him on the staff.

"Anybody who had the nerve to pull a stunt like that," said the editor to me, "deserves a job. He fooled me completely and any guy who can get away with that is a lulu."

The editor insisted that the artist resume his right name. It is only fair to say that the perpetrator of the hoax made good and is still earning an excellent living with his pen.—Washington Star.

Severe Old Laws

Back in the Seventeenth century when Boston was only a town, one of the laws enacted by the General court provided that suicides were not to be interred in a burial ground, but on the side of a public highway, with a cartload of stones dumped on the grave as a mark of public contempt.

Other laws of the time prohibited Christmas celebration for fear of disorders, and forbade cards and dice under penalty of $25 fine. Marriage to one's deceased wife's sister was forbidden; common scolds were punished by ducking them in salt water. Sub bath desecrators were confined in a cage in front of the town house, and a hole was burned in the tongue of the blasphemer with a hot iron.—Detroit News.

5-Year Program For Girl Scouts

New Orleans, Nov. 7 (AP).—Mrs. Herbert Hoover's suggestion to the Girl Scouts of a five-year development program with a goal of 500,000 members, the raising of $3,000,000 for the work, and the Girl Scout objective of peace absorbed the attention of the annual convention of Girl Scouts of America today.

The five-year development plan, recently promulgated by Mrs. Hoover and explained in detail here today by Mrs. Louis G. Myers of New York, calls for an expansion of membership from 244,444 to 500,000 girls. Revision of emphasis without change in the fundamental program of Scouting is the outline.

The program, Mrs. Myers said, "contemplates a total expenditure during the preparatory year, 1936, and the period of the program of $11,311,015. Of this $6,675,595 would come from sources within the Girl Scout movement and the difference will be financed from the development fund of $3,000,000."

Success or failure of the program rests upon the shoulders of the local workers throughout the country, Mrs. Myers said.

Women and Age

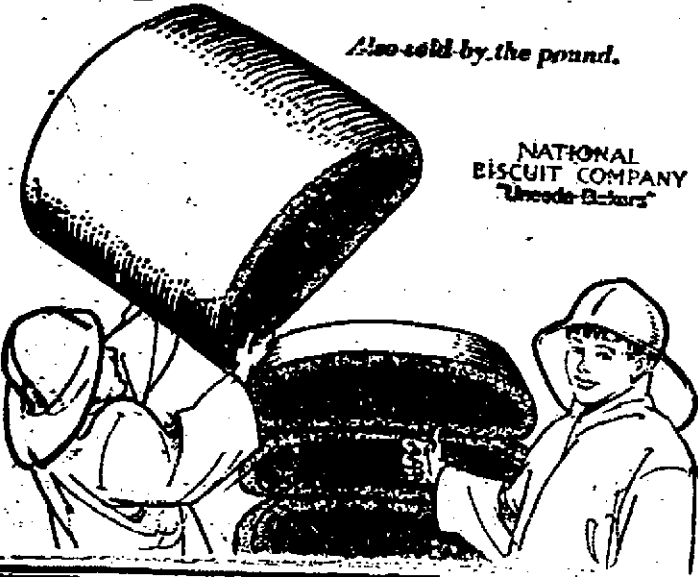

There is a tradition that women are loath to tell their age; and it is the tradition also that this reluctance is because they fear to confess the departure of youth. Perhaps its origin is otherwise; that they knew that a woman, or a man, is what she or he is, looks, acts, knows, does, believes—and that enumeration of years may be less truthful than that which appears to the eye and understanding.—Exchange.

ONE LONE DEMOCRAT ELECTED IN MARBLETOWN

Stone Ridge, Nov. 7.—Polling at the election on Tuesday was rather heavy throughout the town of Marbletown. The successful candidates were: Frederick Davis, Raymond Wood, Edgar Dyer, Jesse Du Bois, Clarence Pine, William Atkins, Arthur K. Sheeley, Chester L. Roosa, P. W. Wells, Arthur Roosa, Irving North, Roscoe North, Percy Schoonmaker. With one exception the entire Republican ticket was elected. Jesse Du Bois defeated the Republican candidate for road commissioner. Other candidates on the Republican ticket for jobs other than those of the town won by a surprising majority in the town.

Worth $40,000,000 to $50,000,000.
Capetown, Union of South Africa, Nov. 7 (AP).—Sir Joseph Robinson, premier who found diamonds on the Vaal river in 1869 and gold on the Witwatersrand in 1886, left an estate of between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. He died a few days ago.

No Derry, No Marston
An Italian priest put the fatal question to a bridegroom and the man shouted "No!" He accused the girl's father of withholding her derry.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—The stock market went through another trying period of forced liquidation today which carried many issues down 5 to nearly 20 points in the early trading, and then rallied in impressive fashion as strong support came into the market. Most of the early declines were materially cut down or wiped out, and a number were converted into gains of one to about 25 points.

Trading was again unusually heavy. Opening blocks of 5,000 to 15,000 shares were followed by long strings of smaller transactions, with the result that the ticker fell more than an hour behind the market in the last hour of the abbreviated session. Sales crossed the 5,000,000 share mark before midday.

Little attention was paid to the money market. Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent, with time money in supply at the same rate for all maturities. Publication of the weekly report of the New York Federal Reserve Bank this evening is expected to disclose another huge reduction in brokers' borrowings.

Several more favorable dividend developments were announced today. Directors of the Chicago and North-western Railroad raised the annual rate from $4 to $5 and National Tea directors from $1.50 to $2. An extra dividend of $2 was declared on American Machine and Foundry and one of $1.50 on International Cigar Machinery. The Vulcan Detinning Company completed the payment of back dividends on the preferred issues. United States Machinery reduced the annual rate from $2 to $1.

Some of the recoveries in today's market were impressive. United States Steel Common, which dipped to 16 1/2 soon after the opening, rebounded to 17 1/2, up 8 points. General Electric rallied from 195 1/2 to 233, up 27. Johns Manville from 94 1/2 to 112, up 10. Consolidated Gas from 88 to 96 1/2, up 8 1/2. and Atchafalpa from 210 1/2 to 226, up 9.

Leadership
The character and qualifications of the leader are reflected in the man he selects, develops and guides around him. Show me the leader and I will show his men. ## ON REARING CHILDREN FROM CRIB TO COLLEGE

Time is the thing we need most in the morning, but we cannot have it unless we get the family to bed early the night before. I know you're growing with me. Children—little ones or little ones—never want to go to bed. Was there ever a more baffling problem than this? Its solution demands three qualities—determination, firmness and co-operation.

This generation is fast becoming a race of sun worshippers. Adults must have their costs of tan for cosmetic purposes, children must have their sun baths for the health and vigor. This is as it should be but there are inherent dangers in sudden prolonged exposure to the hot rays of the sun. Some children are sick for days as the result of a single sun bath. Gradual exposure of the body to the direct rays of the sun should be a part of every child's program.

An intensive two years' study of crime and the motion picture has been made by Dr. Joseph L. Holmes, of the department of psychology at Columbia university. He believes his studies prove the actual unimportance of the film as a producer of crime delinquents. "The movies prove an outlet for the romantic imagination rather than jeopardizing our emotional stability," declares Dr. Holmes.

Should women who are mothers fly? "Yes," says Mrs. Mary C. Alexander of Lynchburg, Va., who recently matriculated as a student at Roosevelt field, Long Island. Mrs. Alexander is the mother of two children but feels this is no reason for keeping her feet on the ground. Mrs. Alexander has for the past eight years operated an automobile sales agency in Lynchburg and is taking flying lessons because she intends to sell airplanes as well as automobiles.

Perhaps the most useful article of the college girl's wardrobe is the "slinker." This is one of the few fads that has remained to become a useful and colorful habit. There is such a deliciously free feeling about slopping around in the rain and not having to bother with an umbrella. Slinker, old hat and rubbers do every bit as well and are a thousand times more convenient.

Teachers are able to earn university credits in a number of colleges by studying the ways and whereof of the naughtiness of school children and how to lead them back into the straight and narrow path. They are directed in these studies by experienced visiting teachers, and the records of children in whose problems the visiting teachers have wrestled with varying degrees of success are their textbooks. Why some children play truant, why others lie and steal and still others can't get along with their teachers and their fellow pupils, why they miss their lessons and are left behind, and many other why are special topics taken up in the classes. Information on the list of colleges offering these courses may be obtained free from the national committee of visiting teachers, 8 West Fortieth street, New York City.

Chinese Inspiration Is Noted in Gay Pajamas

All the world is wearing pajamas these days and not only in the boudoir, for the modern variety is much too attractive and too becoming to be so narrowly confined, says the Woman's Home Companion. The pajamas it featured at first were embroidered across the shoulders and fitted so neatly into the divided front and sleeves. The little leaf border around the bottom of the trousers is especially appealing. Made in brick-red flat crepe combined with black crepe-back satin they are over as gay and yet practical, too. The embroidery is done in a coarse flat stitch and the coloring, two shades of purple with green and black and a touch of gold makes a subtle harmony with the blouse.

Great Son of Virginia
Henry Clay, one of the greatest statesmen and orators that the United States ever had, was born in Harrodsburg, Va., on April 12, 1777. Clay was the author of many compromises, of which the Missouri compromise, of which the Missouri compromise is the most famous.

Great Commanders Not Famed as Rifle Shots

The great Napoleon, being economically minded, would have been gratified to know that his "fowling piece" brought $1,800 second hand at a recent sale in Paris.

Napoleon, educated as an artilleryman, was a "big gun" man in his military attitude, and depended largely on his artillery and cavalry armies to win glory. As a handler of small arms he was a true artilleryman.

The Little Corporal was a poor shot and sport did not appeal to him, perhaps for that reason. Students of the intimate details of his life recall that on one of the few occasions he was gunning for game his entire bag consisted of his favorite dog.

His great adversary, the duke of Wellington, was no better. Lady Shelley, in his memoirs, describing a day's hunting with him, says:

"The hero of Waterloo was a very wild shot. After wounding a retriever and peppering a keeper's gaiters, he sprinkled the bare arms of an old woman washing clothes at her cottage window."

Relics of "Boom" Days

on Death Valley Trail
Stovepipe well is a hole in the sand on the east side of Death valley at the foot of Death valley bottom, where Courte Lee in the Saturday Evening Post. When freighters were making regular trips across the valley during the mining boom, men and stock got water at Stovepipe well.

The well was hard to find until some one thrust a short piece of stovepipe into the sand to mark it. Very thirsty men got water at the well. Stovepipe well is a point of interest to the tourists. They take pictures there. Sometimes they take the water.

Across the road from the well is the Battle wagon. Two-thirds of the wagon is underground. In hot weather the valley is water below the surface. The Battle wagon is a curiosity. It was a wagon in the days of the freighters. The freighters crossing the valley on the old Wallingford trail stopped at Stovepipe well and helped to empty the bottles that went into the walls of the Battle wagon.

Never Too Old to Learn.
Miss Nye closed her lessons by repeating to her class that no one is ever too old to learn. "All members of the family can and do learn from birth until senility or death. People at 45 can learn approximately as well as they did at eighteen, and the decrease in the ability to learn after 45 is only one per cent per year. Interest and time rather than age are the important factors in the amount one learns."

Figures Show Growth of English Language

The amazing growth of the English language, surpassing that of any other during the past 100 years, is illustrated by statistics given by the Neue Auercher Zeitung. English was spoken by less than 20,000,000 persons in 1800; the statistics showed, while at present no less than 100,000,000 people speak it natively, while an additional 60,000,000 understand it but do not consider it their own native tongue. The newspaper says the rate of increase has far outstripped all other languages, and that there is no part of the world where English is not now spoken. German was spoken by 32,000,000 persons a century ago and now by between 80,000,000 and 90,000,000 persons, the statistics showed. The use of the Dutch languages increased from 6,000,000 to 15,000,000; Swedish from 2,000,000 to 7,500,000; and Danish from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000. The growth of the Latin languages on the other hand has been less rapid, with Italian slightly in the lead. Spoken by 21,400,000 a century ago, that language now is spoken by 45,000,000, while Spanish, which was second in increase, was used by 35,200,000 a century ago and now is used by 50,000,000. French, the language of diplomacy, has increased only from 32,400,000 to 45,000,000, but it is understood by an additional 75,000,000 foreigners.

Talks at Accord On Family Life

Almost fifty women from the Kingston valley spent the day Wednesday at Accord, when Miss Charibel Nye, specialist from the State College of Home Economics, gave the first lesson in the course on Family Life. The meeting was held at the M. E. Church Hall and was an all day meeting.

The ladies of the Accord Home Bureau served a delicious luncheon at noon, a luncheon that was proof of the interest Accord has taken in community meals and refreshments.

This is no hit or miss cover dish affair," was heard from one of the guests at the luncheon. It was explained to the guests that Accord has always been deeply interested in the nutrition work given by the Home Bureau and practices the teachings brought to the community by the organization. Doughnuts, heavily frosted cakes, pies, two dozen plates of meat and 57 varieties of potato salads were conspicuously by their absence. Instead were, among other things, fruit cocktail, vegetable stew, celery, delicious cabbage salad, cottage pudding and, best of all, a setting that made a strong aesthetic appeal. The luncheon was served in three courses, on tables simply but attractively set.

Miss Nye held the undivided attention of the group throughout both sessions of the meeting. The aim of the course is to aid homemakers to understand the learning process and conditions that favor learning as they aid her in the successful management of her home. "Age is not the important thing in learning," said Miss Nye. "All ages can learn and are learning. We all keep learning until senile or dead. The important factor in adult learning is to set a goal, not just let things drift into one's life. Time is a factor in adult learning. Other factors affecting adult learning are having faith that one can learn, wanting to learn and searching out the things that will help one to learn."

Miss Nye pointed out the three factors that favor learning. First, set or attitude. The interest in, or enthusiasm for learning, or at least lack of unwillingness to change, is a very important factor. Second, practice. Skill comes in doing. Habitual behavior comes through practice. Practice brings improvement. Third, satisfaction, sense of well being. The place of approval when success is attained has an important place in good teaching. "Approval and a feeling of success bring us all to what we are," said Miss Nye.

Never Too Old to Learn.
Miss Nye closed her lessons by repeating to her class that no one is ever too old to learn. "All members of the family can and do learn from birth until senility or death. People at 45 can learn approximately as well as they did at eighteen, and the decrease in the ability to learn after 45 is only one per cent per year. Interest and time rather than age are the important factors in the amount one learns."

South American Diplomatic Posts

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP).—A complete list of new heads of American diplomatic missions in a number of South and Central American countries is expected to be ready for action by President Hoover within a week.

Among those who are reliably reported to be remaining in the South American field are Alexander P. Moore, ambassador to Peru; William S. Catherine, ambassador to Chile; Robert Woods Bliss, ambassador to Argentina, and Edwin V. Morgan, for the past seventeen years ambassador to Spain.

George T. Summerlin, former minister to Venezuela; Leland Harrison, former minister to Sweden, has been appointed minister to Uruguay; and Sheldon Whitehouse, of New York, minister to Guatemala. Harry F. Guggenheim has been named ambassador to Cuba.

President Hoover is known to be keenly interested in the development of the American diplomatic service in the South and Central American area since his Latin-American tour of last year and has been particularly interested in the question of the promotion of career diplomats to responsible positions.

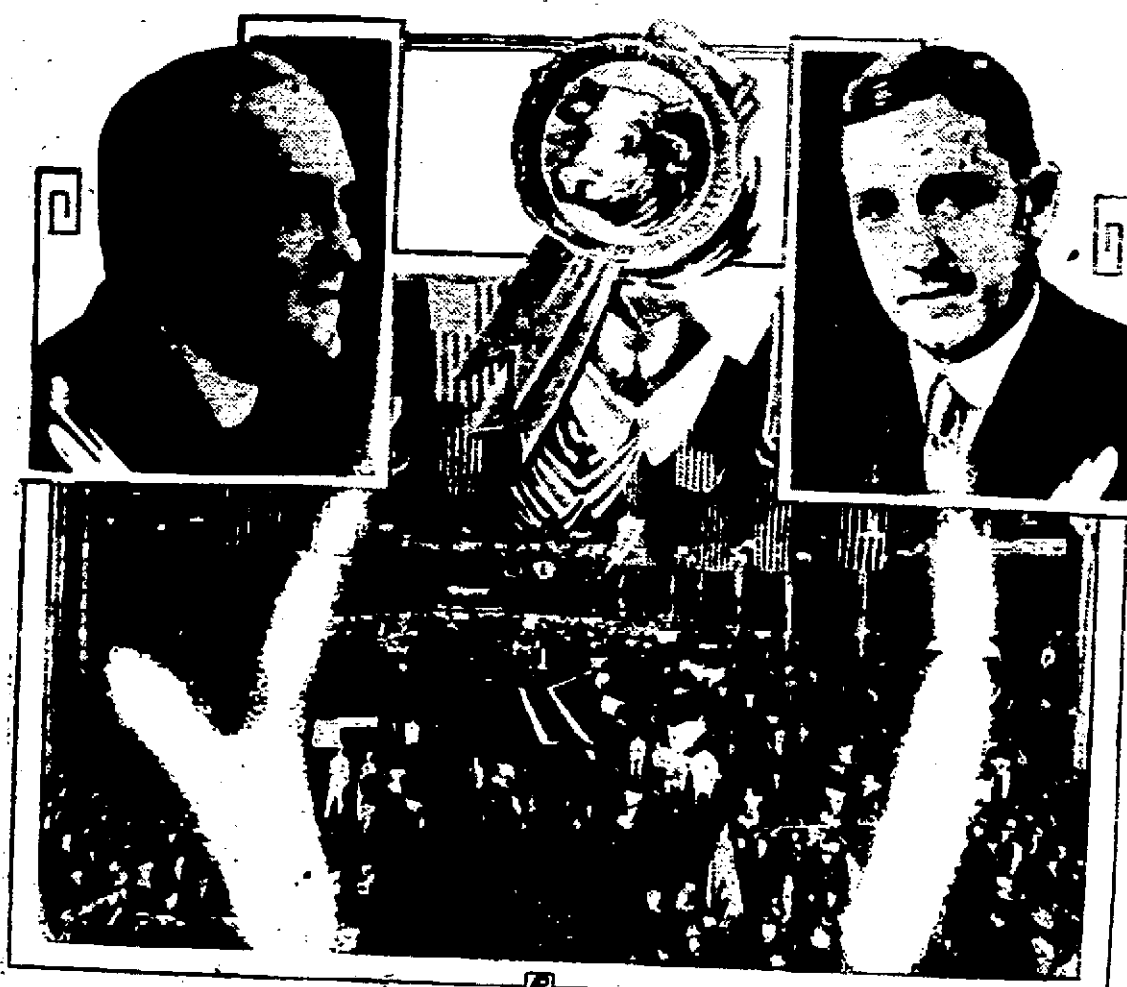

In the appointment of Summerlin and Harrison the president showed an inclination toward the foreign service in his first two choices in the Latin-American field. Members of the foreign service have expressed the hope ever since Mr. Hoover came into office that he would see fit to make further promotions to responsible positions for the service.

The South and Central American positions which are now open to the president for designation of new ministers or an indication that the present incumbent will remain are Colombia, Ecuador, Paraguay, Bolivia, Panama, Honduras, Nicaragua, San Salvador, and Costa Rica.

Blames Federal Reserve Board

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 7 (AP).—Amendment of the Federal Reserve Act to make all legitimate collateral, including stock certificates, eligible to rediscunt privileges, was advocated today by Samuel P. Arnot, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, a speaker before the Nebraska Bankers' Association.

Mr. Arnot, head of the nation's principal commodity exchange, traced developments of the recent stock market collapse and centered much of his attention on the "vacillating policies" of the Federal Reserve Board, which he connected closely with the crash. Purposes for which the Reserve Board was created are now antiquated, Mr. Arnot said, urging revision of its rules to assist in guiding and protecting the investor.

In advocating a change in the rediscunt system, Mr. Arnot said as the law is now construed, rediscunts apply only to notes drawn for agricultural, commercial or industrial purposes, a steadily decreasing volume.

An "easy money policy" adopted by the Federal Reserve Board in 1927 to aid European countries in recovering from post-war troubles was named by Mr. Arnot as the foundation of the "tremendous bull market" movement which reached its apex last summer. He cited statistics in an endeavor to show that when the board became alarmed at the increasing intensity of speculation months later, its policies "vacillated to the distress of the markets."

"When the market collapsed with a record breaking drop of $1,096,000,000 in brokers' loans," Mr. Arnot asserted, "the Reserve Board may be said to have won its fight against the absorption of credit on speculation, but many contend it won the fight only after having given up the battle."

Harvard and Army Meet Strong Teams From Middle West

New York, Nov. 7 (AP).—The great expeditionary force over ground was an invasion of the middle-west prepared to move out of the east today for a march upon the football citadels of Urbana and Ann Arbor. Harvard had the assignment of checking a three-headed Michigan eleven and the Army was best upon making a come-back at the expense of Robert Zuppke and Illinois, not the easiest manner in which to spend a November afternoon.

The Crimson had a final drill at Cambridge yesterday against the plan of attack expected from Michigan on Saturday, and faced only a limbering up session today. They will work out briefly on Perry field at Ann Arbor tomorrow, the first appearance of a Harvard eleven on any middle-western gridiron.

The Army program was much the same—a light drill or none at all today and probably a brief brush in the Illinois Stadium late tomorrow. Even with these two eastern eleven playing out of the territory, football enthusiasts along the Atlantic seaboard have a choice of half a dozen fine games from Providence, R. I., to Annapolis, Md.

With all but the finishing touches put on, Brown and Dartmouth await the game which tops the home card in the east on Saturday and which is being played for the last time for at least two seasons. Brown today was almost an even choice against Dartmouth, which must face the Bruins, Cornell and the Navy without Al Marsters.

Defeated early in the season by Western Maryland in an upset, a fine Georgetown eleven faces a chance to regain lost ground if it can level the defenses of the Navy at Annapolis. Victor over the Midshipmen last Saturday, Pennsylvania hopes to preserve its momentum long enough to turn back Penn State, which also is moving rapidly upward after a soggy start.

The Princeton Varsity went through a hard season in Tigertown yesterday after two days of rest, the hardest drill it will have prior to the Lehigh game on Saturday. Lehigh is no push-over, and has at least a chance to defeat a slow, ponderous Princeton team which is looking more toward the Yale game than to the contest at hand. The Elis apparently are in no danger from Maryland this week, but it may be recalled that in a similar situation last year Maryland escaped from New Haven with a 6 to 0 victory.

Cornell takes on Western Reserve this week as final preparation for its game against Dartmouth a week from Saturday. Colgate and Columbia should provide a fine clash for New York fans, with the Maroon favored to turn back the fighting light blues and Whites.

Major Frank Cavanaugh endeavored yesterday to correct the results shown by Fordham against West Virginia in the scores of West Virginia game. The Bronx is truly alarmed over the Ram's forthcoming assignment against Boston College at Boston, the second hard game in five days. West Virginia faces the task of grappling with Detroit at Morgantown on Saturday, and Detroit has not been beaten in 20 games.

The clash between Georgia and New York University shares Metropolitan interest with the Colgate-Columbia fray, with the promise of a good crowd at the Yankee Stadium on Saturday. Eastern spectators are anxious to see the eleven which halted Albie Booth. That early victory over Yale makes Georgia a favorite for Saturday.

Williams is the choice over Wesleyan in the second Little Three game.

Big Indian vs. "Y". Big Indian's champion bowling team has challenged the Y. M. C. A. players, who play in the City League, so the teams will meet on Saturday night at 8 o'clock on the "Y" alleys.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

You may not hear a great deal about him, for he prefers to work in the background and enjoy the results, yet whenever professional sport needs to have its pulse examined, "Doctor" Joe Carr, the genial, silver-haired organizer, is likely to be called in for consultation.

When Joe is not running the affairs of the Columbus baseball club in the American Association, he is busy with the management of the National Professional Football League or the American Professional Basketball League. The silver-thatched citizen of Columbus attends to his sports in season.

"Did you know that most of the most successful college football coaches, perhaps over 75 per cent of them, came out of professional ranks?" inquired Joe, who played with pro football when everyone else gave it up for dead.

No, we didn't know it. So Joe went on:

"Take Rockne, since you mentioned him. After leaving Notre Dame he played a number of years on an Ohio professional team. His teammate, Gus Dorais, now the successful coach of the University of Detroit, was with him. When they were looking for an assistant to Jess Harper at South Bend, Rockne was selected. That's how he got his start and experience he had in 'pro' ranks was a big help to him.

"With one or two exceptions, the college coaches are good friends of professional football. The National League has played fair with the colleges, enforcing its iron-clad rule against tampering or dickering with any player while he is still in college. The rule goes further. It prohibits any club from signing or making an offer to a player until after his college year. In other words, he can't quit college and join one of our teams during or after the college season.

"We are in the football business but not to the detriment of or in competition with the college game. Thousands of football fans cannot see the desire to see the game, even if they desire to. But they can and are going to see pro football."

The professional gridiron stars may not have the good old do-or-die spirit of their college days, if they had any, but they play better football, smarter football on the whole.

Success on the college gridiron is not always an assurance of ability to star in pro ranks. Except for one or two flashes. Red Grange was never able to duplicate his college stuff after he turned pro. Yet Benny Friedman, Michigan's famous quarterback who was over-shadowed by Grange in college days, has added to his reputation among the paid performers. Benny's skillful generalship and expert toe have put the New York Giants up around the top of the National League.

After losing two games in a row, the University of Maryland changed its luck and won the next contest against Gallaudet, with the aid of five basketball centers, four of them sophomores who average 6 feet 1 inch in height.

Hayes - Asher Bout Expected to Produce Action

Friday night's six-round semi-final at the armory promises to be one of the biggest attractions of the evening and will vie with the Bill Freeman-Jack Robinson 10-round feature for the spotlight.

The bout brings together Johnny Hayes, a clever boxer, and Roy Asher, a hard slugger. Hayes defeated Asher here two weeks ago by outpointing him in one of the most interesting bouts ever staged at the armory. Asher says he will turn the tables this Friday.

Asher is a determined little ringman. He showed this by the way he boxed in during his last fight with Hayes. He claims that Friday his aggressiveness and desire to win will give him a decisive victory over Hayes. Johnny is ready for him and fears nothing from his threatening attack.

The whole card consists of 22 rounds and bears the names of two locals, Frenchy Duwig and Jerry Trought. Attitudes of the scrappers promise that several of the bouts will be cut short and Duwig and Trought are among those who count on finishing their men by the knockout route.

Mercantile League Results

By failing to appear at the Y. M. C. A. alleys Wednesday evening the Central Hudson bowlers forfeited three games to Fullers No. 2 team in the National division of the Mercantile League. In the American division Fullers No. 3 defeated Palens two out of three games. Palens won the first game, the second was a tie at the end of the regular period but was decided in favor of Fullers No. 3 in the first two frames of the third game and the third game was won by the shirt-makers.

BURDEN FALLS ON MICHIGAN AND ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Nov. 7 (AP).—On Michigan and Illinois Saturday will fall the burden of maintaining the edge held by the western conference over inter-sectional football opponents. In five games big ten teams have triumphed three times over adversaries from the east and south, with Chicago defeating Princeton, Minnesota defeating Vanderbilt and Wisconsin downing Colgate. Colgate got one back for the east by trouncing Indiana, and Pittsburgh scored the second victory for the east by trimming Ohio State last week.

The Illini are accorded a better chance of coming through victorious over Army Saturday at Urbana, than Michigan is of defeating Harvard at Ann Arbor.

Michigan has not scored a victory in three major contests.

Salvation Five Meeting. The greatest to be known as the Colonial-Red Shields will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Salvation Army headquarters on North Front street to make plans for the coming court season and to hold a practice. The team's first game will be with the Congressionalists at the Salvation Army Hall on November 14. The Colonial-Red Shields have ordered new uniforms from the Sweeney and Schonger sporting goods store.

Great Interest in Newburgh Game Here Saturday

Light drills to limber them up constituted Tuesday evening's practice of Kingston High School varsity, while on Wednesday the boys went in for slightly heavier work, doing light scrimmages for their game with Newburgh Academy at the Kingston Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon.

The game is scheduled for 2 p. m. and from that time until the final whistle ends the fray there promises to be action galore. Kingston having won every contest they played this season needs just the one win over Newburgh to capture the DUSO League title and the Maroon and White is planning one of the stiffest fights they put up this year.

Although Newburgh's grid career has not been very colorful this season, the Hilly City boys are determined to stop Kingston at any cost. They are making every preparation for the hard-fighting Colonials and promise plenty of opposition.

Coch Kias's men will go through scrimmages and signal drills today after school as their last preparation for Newburgh over whom they are favored to win.

PUNTS and PASSES

(By The Associated Press.)

Pittsburgh.—Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh coach, has taken a leaf from the book of Gil Dobie. His Pittsburgh team is unbeaten and untied, but yesterday he remarked to his players that they could play good football and he'd have to shake them up a bit if they didn't start doing it pretty soon.

New Haven.—Yale has shown in practice that it really can score without the aid of Albie Booth. The Elis ran over two touchdowns in 20 minutes against the Scrubs yesterday and Booth didn't score a point.

Villa Nova, Pa.—Harry Stuldreher's Villa Nova team has all but two of its men ready for Saturday's clash with Bucknell. The absentees are Highfield, speedy third string halfback, and Connolly, fullback.

West Point.—Army's players may find themselves listening for Coach Bill Jones's whistle on the field at Urbana, Ill., Saturday. The Scrubs began to make some headway against the Varsity in practice using Illinois plays yesterday, but Jones halted each play as soon as the runner was free or had found an opening in the line.

Princeton, N. J.—Bill Roper has made his most radical change of the season in the Princeton lineup as a result of Tris Bennett's injury. Sam Levine, who has played guard for a couple of seasons, went to fullback and Zundel was shifted to half.

Hanover, N. H.—The Dartmouth team hardly looked like Dartmouth yesterday. In addition to the absence of Al Marsters, Len Clark, the Green's second best ball carrier, was missing from practice.

Ricorda With Celtics. Harry Ricorda, who played with the Kingston team in the old Metropolitan League, has been signed by the Celtics this season. Ricorda will be with the green and white when it opens its season at Madison Square Garden on November 16. Ricorda played third base for the Cincinnati Reds last summer.

What has become of the old-fashioned trunks effect in singing, or don't people sing in a cold bath?

Yellow Jacket Backfield Looks Good to Wheeler

Signal drills in which the Yellow Jacket backfield worked up a healthy sweat occupied the major part of the local eleven's practice Wednesday night, when the boys showed plenty of pep and readily grasped a set of plays that are expected to be the downfall of the Troy Ramblers Sunday afternoon at the Kingston Fair Grounds.

Coach "Watts" Wheeler, who directed Wednesday night's practice, was well satisfied with the way that the team, and especially the backfield, took to its work. Wheeler had Captain Jole Hoffman at quarter, Stumpf and Svirsky in the half berths and Lee Hasbrouck doing the fullback turn. The combination showed up well. However, the backfield machine for Sunday's tilt with the Ramblers has not been named yet.

Another practice will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the rear of the armory. Don Beany and "Sergeant" Burton are expected to do some capering in the backfield tactics tonight in preparation for the coming game. According to reports, the Trojans will do more than their share to make it an interesting one and present interest on the part of fans presages that there will be a large turn-out to watch the grid war.

Offer Rich Prizes at Horse Show

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—King George comes back into his own today for a reign of six days and nights. The occasion is the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden.

In addition to the great display of American bluebloods, which will vie for trophies and cash prizes in 150 classes, the finest mounts and riders of five countries will compete in the International Military Championship. The German team will not defend the championship won last year, but Poland, two-time winner, the Irish Free State, Italy and Canada will be represented along with the United States.

The American officers team, headed by Major Harry D. Chamberlin, comprises Captain W. B. Bradford, Lieutenant E. F. Thomson and Lieutenant E. Y. Argo. The team won second place last year.

Prizes for this year's show are the richest since the little band of sportsmen launched the first National Show in 1883. The 45 cups and trophies are valued at more than $20,000, while more than $40,000 in cash prizes will go to the winners in the 150 classes. Ten stakes, which take in every division, will have a value of $16,500.

COMFORTER TEAM TO PLAY JAMAICA Y. M. C. A.

The Church of the Comforter basketball team has again organized, and with the addition of several new men, will try to make things interesting for the teams in the Sunday School League and any other teams wishing to play them.

At a recent meeting the following officers were elected: Kenneth Williams, manager; Ivan Whitmore, captain; Claude Hansen, treasurer; and Winfield Van Bramer, secretary. Two new men were included in the playing roster. Harold Smith and George Fleming, who it is hoped will go a long way toward making the team a winning one.

The team will open their season on November 9, when they will travel to Jamaica, L. I., to play the Y. M. C. A. team of that city, which is coached by "Pop" Blum. "Pop" is well known to local basketball fans for his ability to turn out winning teams.

The team leaves Saturday at 1 o'clock from the local Y. M. C. A. following making the trip: Whitmore, Webster, Fremont, Smith, Hansen, Zundel, Hansen, Van Bramer and Williams.

Mentor of the Illini Grid Team

Bob Zuppke as He Appears in Action.

Just one coach in the Big Ten has seen longer service than Robert C. Zuppke who is on his seventeenth year at the University of Illinois. That is A. A. Stagg, who is on his thirty-eighth year at Chicago.

In this time Zuppke's teams have established a noteworthy record by winning seven Big Ten titles, including honors for the past two years. More than that, these feats have been against the strongest teams in the conference.

Under Zuppke the Illini have a margin of at least one victory over every Big Ten rival with the exception of Michigan which leads the series, five games to four, by virtue of the upset at Ann Arbor last season.

The master of the Illini has coached many stars, and also such elders as the 1927 champion team which was known as the "marines" squad but bowled over one adversary after another.

Runner Ray Barbuti May Be Reinstated by A. A. U.

Ray Barbuti, the only American runner to win at the Olympic games, who has been under suspension for throwing mud at the A. A. U. and some of its approved "amateurs," may be reinstated.

President Brundage admits that there may be some truth in what Barbuti said, but holds that the stories were greatly exaggerated.

There will always be some under cover work when a large group of men is subjected to financial temptation. Some will fall for offers of big money. Even if Barbuti's charge were correct in every way there seems no real reason to condemn the A. A. U. as an organization. Black sheep will be found in the big flocks, everywhere.

The real people to blame and to be punished are the promoters of events who connive with athletes, or tempt them with big offers.

Tigers Buy Funk

Funk formerly played with the St. Paul club of the American association. He has been the outstanding outfielder of the Pack Coast league.

Plans for Post-Season Army-Navy Contest Fail

Secretary of War Good said this morning that a post-season football game between West Point and Annapolis for this season had failed.

He added, however, that efforts were being made by himself and Secretary of the Navy Adams to get the service institutions to resume athletic relations on a basis suitable to them. He said he and Mr. Adams had discussed calling the superintendents of the institutions together to see if they could not work out a satisfactory plan. Mr. Good added, jokingly, that the Navy "wanted parity."

Rockne Tells Coaches to Abandon Pessimism

Kneate Rockne has become an optimist. Rockne, whose prospects for winning football teams at Notre Dame usually cause him to speak in a melancholy manner before a season opens, now will "present a more or less radiant picture of my prospects." He told a group of coaches at the Northwestern university summer school.

"Pessimism, as applied to football," Rockne said, "has been wrecked by death. It is time to swing back the other way and accept our problems with a more cheerful outlook."

DEMONSTRATES HIS SCIENTIFIC MEMORY PLAN

W. L. Laman, founder of the North Eastern Educational Institute of New York, was the main speaker at the Kiwanis Club Wednesday. Mr. Laman, a teacher of scientific memory, demonstrated his plan. He was introduced to the fifty-five members present at the opening of the meeting and was later called each night by name. Another demonstration was the numbering of fifteen objects on a list and when the numbers were called back after Mr. Laman had looked at the list he associated the object and number of the number and object. A character reading of three men of the club was voted to 55 per cent correct by the club. He will give demonstrations before the Kiwanis Club and Veterans of Foreign Wars and expects to give lectures in town.

Trans-Siberian Railway

Part of the Harbor of Vladivostok.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

RUSSIA'S Far Eastern problem lies at the end of the world's longest railway, the Trans-Siberian. It was a tremendous task to build this railway, and it has been equally a great task at times to keep it in efficient operation.

The distance from the Pacific terminus at Vladivostok to Moscow is 5,201 miles, and to Petrograd 5,481. Much of the road is still single track, and the tremendously heavy traffic of the war years levied a heavy toll on both equipment and roadbed. While in the main grades are fair, yet it is not to be expected that on a road of such length these could be compared to the grades obtaining on our own principal lines. The result is comparatively short trains, many engines, and slow progress. Fast trains now require about ten days for the trip from Moscow to the Pacific, when they traverse the Chinese Eastern tracks through Manchuria.

On leaving Moscow, the Trans-Siberian road runs through about 300 miles of the great western plain of European Russia to the city of Ufa at the foot of the Ural mountains. Some 520 miles east of Moscow is a pyramid on the one side of which is inscribed the word "Europe," and on the opposite side the word "Asia." This pyramid stands on the very apex of the Ural. The railroad at this point is 1,850 feet above sea level. Between Ufa and Tchelyabinsk the road rises from 310 feet elevation to 1,850 feet and drops back again to 700 feet. At the latter place are huge wooden barracks where immigrants entering Siberia were quartered in prewar times, waiting for railroad transportation.

Across the vast stretches of western Siberia the Trans-Siberian railroad passes grassy steppes inhabited by horse-breeding Kirghizes, through long reaches of virgin forest, and through many important agricultural regions. Crossing out of the Tomsk government into that of Yeniseisk, the road shortly reaches Atchinsk, the northernmost town on the railroad. Its latitude is the same as that of the middle coast of Labrador. Indeed, at no time after it leaves Moscow until it enters Manchuria does the Trans-Siberian ever touch further south than the northern coast of Newfoundland.

Many Tunnels and Bridges. By the time it reaches Lake Balkal, it has climbed again to 1,500 feet, and in skirting that body of water has to pass through forty tunnels, through numerous giant cuts and over many bridges. It continues to climb until it reaches Sokhondo, 3,100 feet, where it penetrates a tunnel bearing on its western entrance the inscription "To the Great Ocean," and on its eastern entrance the inscription "To the Atlantic Ocean." After passing the junction of the road to Mukden, the Trans-Siberian drops down to 700 feet, then climbs again to 2,100, and thence back to sea level at Vladivostok.

From this it will be seen that whether viewed from the standpoint of distance, which is one and one-half times that across the American continent by some of the longer routes from seaboard to seaboard; whether from that of latitude and climate, which places it at times 700 miles north of the main coast of Newfoundland and gives it at some points an average temperature in January of five degrees below zero; whether from that of elevation which gives it three mountain ranges to cross; or whether from that of trackage facilities and rolling stock supply, no other nation has ever had such a railroad problem to deal with in times of great crises as Russia has in connection with the operation of the Trans-Siberian line.

To guard against difficulties with China, such as those of recent months, Russia prepared two railway strings to be transportation bow: the shorter Chinese Eastern line, built by Chinese consent on Chinese soil; and the longer Amur river branch, entirely on Russian territory. This branch forms a bow north of Manchuria and meets the Chinese Eastern line again before reaching Vladivostok.

Across the Amur to the south lies China, or rather Manchuria, which, before the World War, was being rapidly Russified. Still, the river there is truly an international line, and this was proved, if by nothing else, by the extensive smuggling that went on across it. The Amur province is in the same latitude as Newfoundland and has a climate that in some ways is comparable to the climate of that far northern American land.

When the Siberian railway was pushed through at the end of the nineteenth century and the gigantic "cut-off" was made through Manchuria, it set things back on the Amur for a while. But after the Russo-Japanese war, Russia's hold on Manchuria was weakened and the empire began building the western half of the great railroad just north of the Amur where it would be entirely on Muscovite territory. Tremendous hardships were encountered in traversing bogs and forests and crossing great rivers; but the job was about completed when the World War broke out. This long stretch of railway paralleling the Amur from 50 to 75 miles north of it, is a valuable asset to the Amur region.

Elagoveshebenak, on the middle Amur, and connected with the Amur railway by a branch line, is the metropolis of the province, a town of about 45,000 inhabitants. Spread out along the river bank, with its spires and domes showing against the sky line, it makes an imposing appearance to the traveler on the river especially since it contrasts so noticeably with the little river towns. Across the river is a Chinese town known locally as Sakulin, but appearing under numerous aliases on the maps. Many of Sakulin's inhabitants, too, have their aliases, for it is a haven for smugglers.

At the eastern end of the Trans-Siberian railway, by whichever route one goes, lies Vladivostok, "Mistress of the East." In some ways it can be compared to San Francisco, at the end of our "Trans-American" lines, more particularly in the latter's earlier Barbary coast days.

Vladivostok is younger than the city by the Golden Gate. It was founded in 1860. Had its normal development not been interrupted by the World War and the unsettled conditions that have followed, Vladivostok might soon have rivaled our own coast city in population and beauty.

Life in Vladivostok.

A tongue of hilly land thrust out into a land-locked bay constitutes the site of the city. The architecture maintains the European note struck by the station; which makes the presence of Oriental people, conveyances and customs all the more exotic. You no sooner accustomed yourself to the dreary routine of bazaar buying, flourishing lotteries and babel of tongues than you encountered the more familiar telegraph office, motion picture theater, museum, club and university. You might dodge a European racing car, under an American electric light, and run plump into a coolie burden bearer despite the warning cries of a Russian policeman. The "Golden Horn" restaurant was the rendezvous of bon vivants of the world. The life of Vladivostok has changed greatly since those days, and none of the old prosperity is apparent.

Small wonder living was extremely dear in the old days and is dearer now, since the city subsisted formerly on supplies from China and Japan, Europe, and even America. Its growth seems due to some inexplicable exception that proves the rule that a city, to succeed, should be self-sustaining, interchange products with the country around it, be thrifty, cultivate civic consciousness, be well governed, and possess some racial, cultural, or patriotic unity. It owed its commerce to the fact that it was the most nearly ice-free port of Siberia, by which virtue it became the terminus of the Trans-Siberian railway, and to the military and naval establishments maintained by the government of the Tsar.

In the way of exports, in its palmest days, it had nothing more important to give the world than sea-cabage, trepang and a fungus gathered from decayed wood, for all of which China was its principal customer. Trepang is the dried body of the holothurian, more commonly known as the sea slug, more appealing to the curiosity than to the palate of the Occidental. For this snail-like creature can throw off, when frightened, its vital organs—digestive, respiratory and reproductive—and replace them all within a few weeks. Nature here seems to hold that two can live more easily, if not more cheaply, than one. When the sea slug becomes too hungry for comfort it divides in two parts and each, developing rapidly into complete units, goes on a search for food.

Worth Remembering. It costs more to neglect our duties than to accomplish them.—Anna Dickinson.
